A lot of people talk about my mother because I look like her. But I tell them I look like my dad too. Then I tell them about him too. I say "he is so nice to others". People often tell me that I can never be one of the people that work at the hospital. But when I get home, I told my dad what people told me and said "Bella don't give up on your dreams". That's why I'm still alive because of him, my father means a lot to me because he is kind, smart, and also very fun.

My father is so Kind to me and other people. Once I was hungry I waited until my dad was home and he asked me if I was hungry. I said "yeah" but I also told him "you can't because you're working". But he also said that he was on a break, so I said ok and we went to get some food. Another reason why he is kind is because he bought me candy one time, I first told him I wanted candy, he was sitting watching tv and I went to tell him that I wanted candy. He said yeah and we went to the store and we went overboard on buying candy!. My final reason on why he is so kind is because he gave me money to buy him ice cream. I was nervous to ask my dad if he could buy me ice cream because he was outside sitting on a chair. Then I asked him if he was ok to give me money to buy ice cream. So he said "yes!" I was so happy because I thought he would say no. He actually took me to buy 4 ice cream's for the family. As you can see, my father is very sweet.

My father is very smart. Once I was out of school I was nervous because I didn't know how to do my homework. When I got home I asked my father if he could help me, he actually explained it to me. Another reason why he is smart is because he knows how to build a mini house for me. One Time when I was young I was sitting thinking on what's on my mind. Then my father looked at me and said are you bored and so I said yes. My father said he was bored also and so we went outside to see what we could do, then my father saw wood pieces that we can use to build a mini house. Final reason why he is smart is because he knows how to use a computer. One time I was having trouble with the computer and I asked my Father if he could help me with the computer he said "sure" then he said "it was just the internet it wasn't working then I said "ok thank you very much". As you can see my father is very smart.

My Father is a fun person. One time I was sitting alone and I was bored. My father touched my shoulder and said "do you wanna play basketball" then I said "yeah sure". We played until it was dark outside. Another reason why he is fun is when he was playing uno cards with me. One day I was playing with my cousin and my Father was sitting on a chair. My Father was like "you wanna play uno and play with money". My father was playing for a while. Final reason on why he is fun. One time my father was talking to my mother about work. my dad came out too and said "you wanna take out some fireworks". I said "sure" then we set up the fireworks outside and when they were ready me and my father were watching them go up. As you can see my Father is very fun.

Me and my dad spend a lot together and have a lot of together. Sometimes I think about those memories to remind me how much fun I had in the past. I love my father because he is kind, smart and fun. Also many more that I can't explain. My father is so special to me because I love how he takes care of me. As you can see my father is so special to me and my family. I am so thankful to have my father by my side and to spend more time with him.
