

My mom is a very special person, My mom is Loving because she takes care are family. My mom is also happy when there are breaks in her job. For example ,she doesn't need to work and take time with my family .My mother means the world to me because she's hard working, great and nice.

My mother is hard working. She's is hard working because she cleans the whole school. Another example my mother is hard working is because she makes food to eat once, she makes three foods at the same time and she was in a hurry. Finally my mother is hard working because she's came home after her work then takes as to school when she is tired from work then she's cook food for as. I feel happy because shade make me food and I always say thank you because she make me food and she is tired form work. As you can see, my mother is a hard workers.

My mother is the greatest .She's is the greatest mother because she has time for as after she finish work. Another example is she is greatest at cooking when I take a bite it feels like heaven. The best food she makes is green pasta and chicken. Finally, the reason my mother is the greatest is because she is the greatest worker in her job because she gets a lot of things in her job like she gets a target gift card. She is one of the greatest mother ever.

My mother is the nice person. She in nices mother is when she buys me thing that I need like when I tell her I need new path for school then she buy it for me. Another example is she nices when she make my bed for me when I have no time to put it she takes her time to put my bed for me. Finally, reason my mother is nices is that she makes me food to eat after school because sometimes I don't eat at school. My mother is one of kind nices person.

My mother means the world to me because she is hard working, great and nice. I'm grateful for my mother because she takes care of as when my bad is at work but she works too. She is the best mother ever in the world i'm so grateful for her because I love her im grateful that she my mother. She is the greatest mother ever because we do a lot of thing like go to the park with my family then sometimes we buy ice cream. I'm so happy for the best mother ever because she can take as to mcdonald's when she don't make food because she have not times to make is food that why i'm grateful for her. My mother means the world to me because she go to work to clean I whole school, she is the best mother and she this good thing for my family.
